 has that of - a great - pleasure for us to think that our little seminar can be kind & attentive & thoughtful for any one else. I am glad you very early that cannot help but more happy & if you can do it - instead, it is a comfort.

 my dear big Ruth, when I am told upon your authority that your weight is 110 lbs - then I am begin to long for you, for as this said, I fear you will soon be able to short cheer upon us all, I fear however as long as you are well & strong, I will be that very dear & always you about - by & in capital out to catch cold, as we too thin shivers, & I am like you to wear your old coat about the house - if you are it - especially I will let you have it - I believe for some time since - but try before - now you are well the autumn:

I have just heard a letter from Mrs. Malson who says the war has been most unusual & prolonged there; I ever hear rain has not cooled the air. Here we had it - 90 to 94° for several days & indeed must say it - gets up near the 90 if not quite, but - has three days past - we have had thunder & showers every few hours, without much real coolness following, when a shower makes up its mind to - have a bit. I rest down on air, we can hear the rain pattering on a mass before it - reaches us just as it - and do on the sea only the noise is louder & more rattling - a little stream near by which had quite dried up - now can be heard rushing, day & night - I hills & trough by the road side where all the horses as they go by, stop to drink - I got some beautiful convolvulii this morning. Pink ones that were climbing all over a little rose bush - I put them in a vase & they were lovely at dinner time but all faded before eight, we got some blue bells, or rather harebells also lots of black-eyed Susans - you really can not - go 5 minutes walk in any direction without seeing something pretty. The road goes right through such wild pretty places - Raspberry & blackberry bushes are thick along the road, & I hear both blueberries & huckleberries are abundant -
