

77 Wall St. New Haven,
16th January, 1872,

Dr. J. W. Dawson

The Yale College,

My dear Sir,

I received your kind letter in due course, and a few days after the two very valuable books you did me the favor to lend.
I have as yet only attached the "Archæia", but I shall have great pleasure in the perusal of both very soon. The second lecture of the course came off last night and was very successful. I transmit the local paper containing a notice of it.

I shall send two or three of my Indian pamphlets, which may be interesting to some of your students who differ with the aboriginal languages, by his equally dictionary, a somewhat more elaborate one, which I hope to publish this Spring, when I shall send you a copy.

We are having very bright but cold weather here, with hardly any snow, in great contrast to that on the plains from which some of my acquaintances have just escaped.

Mr Gibbs desires me to return to Mrs Dawson here kindest good wishes & thanks, and to express the hope that we shall again have the pleasure of having you at our house and in her company,

with great respect

Very truly yours, &c,

George Gibb
