

International Review,

111 WILLIAM STREET.

New York, Feb. 15 1876

Dr. Dawson

Dear Sir

Separate notices of Haeckel & Smith would be better than a combined one for we ~~separate~~ ^{divide} the one department of literature according to language. Haeckel would naturally come under the head of 'German books translated' & having been published some years since ('73-'74) would not usually deserve prominence or very considerable space Smiths book is new & as such we would like to give it place among the leading book reviews. While we suggest individual notices of each, we are exceedingly pleased with the idea of comparison and hope you will carry it out. How would it answer to carefully review

"The Chaldean account" first & embody the contrast in your notice of the "History of Creation"?

Will you try to send the two by March 10? Respectfully yours
The Editors