Gentlemen,

In answer to your letter of the 12th inst, I cannot think that it is my duty
to intervene between Mr Kay and Mr Denton
in the matter referred to any further than by stating <sup>as in my letter and</sup> to them (which I have already done) that I <sup>must</sup> adhere to the terms of my letter

To Mr Brewster of June 13, 1893 which
as both gentlemen say
was written to tell
the view of presently
different and measure
to all the parties in concern.
