Dear Sir,

I take the liberty, though personally unknown to you, to introduce to you Dr. Wm. W. Cunliffe, who is a Doctor of Literature in the University of London and an Affiliate and formerly Bursar of this College. Dr. Cunliffe is on his way to Montreal, where he is to take up a position of some importance in the Gazette; and he has already considerable experience in, and a hereditary connection with, the profession of journalism.

But my reasons for requesting you to be good enough to show any favour in your power to Dr Carliffe, and to allow him such access to your academic resources in the way of Library - & the like as it may be possible to grant to him, are of a more special nature. Dr Carliffe is a very distinguished student of this College, and under difficulties of an ordinary kind has pursued the study of literature with an ordinary desire. His recently published essay on the Influence of Greece upon Elizabethan Poetry has been extremely well received, and the first edition has already been exhausted. His particular wish is, while occupying himself most of his time to journalistic work, to keep up his academic literary studies; and I have ventured to assume that you will find a way of being so head of the University at Montreal, to facilitate his efforts in this direction.

I remain, dear Sir,

Yours very faithfully
