

Philadelphia, Oct. 29, 1876.

Dear Sir:

Your letter of Oct. 23rd arrived during a short absence in New York. I also found the number of "Leisure Hours", for which I am much indebted to you. I will send you a set of my smaller publication in about a month. At present they are not within my reach. I have written for the Smithsonian Institution an account of the archaeological collection in the National Museum, Washington. This publication is a Smithsonian Contribution to Knowledge, and will be out in a week or two. It contains 342 illustrations.

Dr. Dawson.

Truly yours
C. J. Rau
