Dr. J. W. Dawson,

Respected Sir.— With this mail I take the liberty of sending you an article on Biblical Cosmogony which please accept. Since its publication some one has placed in my hand a copy of your "Story of the Earth & Man", which I have read with much interest & pleasure. As the article I send you has the same general object in view, that pervades your writings,—to defend the Bible against the oppositions of science falsely so called & to show the essential harmony between science & revelation, it has occurred to me, that it would afford you pleasure to read it. It embodies a course of lectures which I delivered last fall to our students, somewhat abridged in the Geology of creation for want of room in the Review.

Yours Very Respectfully,

Theodore Appelo
