

Meteorological Office,
Toronto, Canada,

23 Nov 1877

My dear Sir

There was no earthquake felt at the observatory and no signs of one shown by any of the instruments - I have heard it stated that there was a notice in some paper that some person had felt what he supposed was a shock, and that is about all that I know of the matter.

Yours truly
G. T. Keay

Prof Dawson

McGILL UNIVERSITY
ARCHIVES
ACC. NO. 2211/57
REF. 44

Historical Office

Keyser
Nov 177

1771

[Faint, illegible handwritten text, likely bleed-through from the reverse side of the page]