My dear Dr Dawson

Many thanks for the Princeton Review which has just reached me in time.

I have done all that I could with William's Testimonials; and have good hope of success. The last time I saw Mr Crooks he said, in answer to my enquiries: that William's Testimonials were unquestionably the

but that he had seen; but with the caution of a politician he reserved himself for any black swan that might turn up. I am not much afraid of that however.

I am just packed
and starting for the train, so pardon haste Yours faithfully
Dan. Willcox
