My dear Dr. Lawson,

I wrote to you on Saturday as to the question of the publication of my paper on Dr. Hume's manuscripts. It occurs to me now that if there is any division in the Council of the Institute on the subject arising from tenderness for Dr. Hume's man, it may be best to say that I am willing if desired to prepare an abstract of the paper omitting the extracts and meet my duty in paying the debts of the Association against you and them of us

No need to do any more damage to
