

Knowlton, 5 Nov.
So.

My dear Principal, I have no small pleasure in telling you we got out quite successfully. For part of the drive home, things were not quite nice; I had to confess I felt tired. But we were both very glad you took the weather view you did. We had a far better time than this afternoon would have been. And I feel reasonably sure I have caught no fresh cold. I have just had a comfortable afternoon's nap. And my wife had not yet got her finished. So, for once, I put her to paper in her stead, - to the cost of our correspondent.

We find all well here; that is to say, tolerably well. For both Emma & Sam have colds.

Hoping soon to hear of the arrival of your havelock in all health & happiness, I wish you best love to all your circle & thanks for all your hospitality. I am
Yours truly,
Christina Barker.
