Grant, Lt. Col.

Obtained the oldest and largest "Stucklandinia" today - I have seen as yet - It occurs <sup>Billings?</sup> ? at the base of our Niagara - below the "Pentamerus oblongus" bed. It is nearly 5 1/2 by 6 inches from beak & posterior - It is several feet below the layer - of "The Stucklandinia" shell "mass"

In the intervening beds - C. D. Walcott remarked its occurrence as also "the marked difference between the two shells -"

I hope he did not join "The Evolutionists" since then - Received gratefully "The Chain of Life"
I hope I may be permitted add - a few missing links yet for I am accepta
