

Barnard
Columbia College,

New York, Feb. 1, 1883

Dear Sir,

If, as I suppose, you have read the books of Mr. Ignatius Donnelly, as to the probable truth of the tradition recorded by Plato in regard to what we commonly speak of as "the fabled Atlantis," I should be very much obliged to you for an expression of opinion upon the subject.

It has given myself & Mrs. Barnard much pleasure to have an opportunity to promulgate the acquiescence of your son and daughter. I am very sorry that the conditions your invitation at this time has been such as to afford them but an imperfect opportunity to observe our operations,

Very Respectfully yours,
F. A. P. Barnard.

Prof. J. W. Johnson.