My dear Sir William

I thank you much for your kind note. I am very glad to hear of your safe arrival, and hope that you have had a good passage, and are not too tired for your coming Campaign in England.

I thank you, too, for proposing to come and see me, and it will be a pleasure, though it must be mixed with much pain, to welcome you here again under my altered life—My time shall be yours if you will fit me that which is most convenient to yourself— only accepting

Monday, after 3 o'clock when I am going to ~~the~~^{inquire for} Evening. I will let Herbert know that you are in London, and you will probably hear from him direct.

With kind regards,
I am very sincerely yours
