Dear Sir

May I beg your acceptance of an early copy of the accompanying pamphlet, which I propose to publish in the course of next month, when politics have subsided a little, and the time promises better for the purpose.

If the opportunity should ever occur, and be accorded to me, I should be proud to

Shew you my collection of specimens, which would be more satisfactory to you in evidence, than the few photographs which are inserted.

With the assurance of my high esteem and appreciation of your valuable labours,
I have the honour to be,

Dear Sir,

Yours very faithfully

W. B. Galloway.
