TELEGRAPHIC ADDRESS,

27, Paternoster Row,

EXPOSITOR LONDON.

London, 7th Nov. 1887
E.C.

Dear Sir W^m Dawson,

I have to thank you for your letter before me dated Oct. 19, for post Card received this morning. I will carry out your instructions about Wood blocks (The Electros duly reached us) and the sum of £24 shall be ~~now~~ charged to the venture, & credited to you apc. It would have been very desirable, had it been possible to insert the Appendix, but we are purposed to find that the text makes 480 pp & the Origin of Callan the largest of the other volumes, makes only 448, so that of necessity the appendix must be omitted. Had I known when we started that the volume would run out to so many pages more matter might have been put into each page, but the volume would be too bulky for anything to be added.

The first proofs corrected came to hand this morning. Unless you write to the contrary the proof as returned by you shall be dismissed for press after careful reading.

Believe me

Yours very truly

The Appendix must be written. The Appendix when we started that the volume would run out too.
Many papers were written and have been put into each book but the volume would be too bulky for anything to be added.

The first book covered some tabular and working. When we write to the end of the book as returned by your office as described for use after careful reading.

Believe me
Yours very truly
