Dear Sir William,

Thank you for your kind letter received on Saturday, I am feeling better now, the attention I have received at home, with the change of air
has set me up again.
I wrote to Mr. Barclay at the same time as I made after I was of which I was told nothing. Miss Smith was rather consulted instead of when I ventured to object to the System of examining at the Closing Session. I was spoken to in a quite arrogant manner. I will not trouble you with other details as these will no doubt explain why when feeling far from strong I thought it better to decide without delay to resign my position rather than
