Dear Sir,

You were so
kind some time ago as to invite me to contribute to the Contemporary an article on the Deluge.
I have been making
notes for this for some time and hoped to complete it in a moderate at the end.

of my Senior's work, Loborne however in
Jan. March Number
a review of my West
book & Modern Science in the Lands & which will render necessary some vindication of positions respecting the Rentateuch. The questions and I shall before dealing with the delay. I can scarcely imagine what could have tempted Carion Driver to such conduct as that in his article except

offense taken by him
at remarks about
the detour of his applies. In any case I cannot see
the interest of truth

submit to such ^{me} fair treatment ~~as~~ his part; and shall have to ask you
to insert for me
a paper on "Genesis
and some of its critics" in which without personal reference to Dever I shall endeavour to meet his objections. If however you do not think it expedient
