

THE CONTEMPORARY REVIEW.

56, Ludgate Hill,
London, Apr. 18. 1854
E.C.

my dear Sir,

I have had your off to D: price put into type,
I should have inserted it in the May number of the Review if I could have taken it as it stands.

But I am forced to say that its tone goes too far for our rules of censorship.
I have indicated <sup>one of</sup> on the proofs which I send

The alterations which seem to me needed
to bring it within the mark. Perhaps you can do it in a better way. A more moderate style of expression will much strengthen it as an argument & even as a protest.

Please look to the spelling of the Hebrew

was & return as soon as you can.

Wishes me

Yours, very truly,

Henry Wm. Brewster

---

Dr. J. W. Dawson, F. R. S.

Contemp Am
Apr 89
S