My dear Sir William,

Many thanks for your very valuable letter of May 28th. My table is crowded with Canadian Blue Books & works of reference and they make me feel that after my two visits to the Dominion I am only at the beginning of knowledge of its affairs.

On my voyage & since my return I have worked at the Report & Evidence of the Labour Commission. The latter is of great value & interest, but the Report is the fubler & most arranged public document I have ever struggled with. It is well-meaning but it is a monument of perfunctory dumciness. I wish I might have had the drawing up of a Report on the four admirable volumes of evidence.

I heard from your friend Mr Griffiths of Harrow this morning, and next week I hope to see him and to tell him how deeply I am Sir J. W. Daw

indebted to him for his letter of introduction to you.

Your recent article has received much more notice from the press than is usual in the case of papers published in the Monthly Reviews over here.

Had your daughter who crossed the Atlantic with me told me he had made the acquaintance of your son during his travels, whose great work impressed him very considerably.

With kindest regards to her ladyship & to Miss Dawson I am Dear Sir William
Very truly yours
