

Dictated.

John W. Foster
John W. Foster
John W. Foster

United States writers better acquainted with one another, supplement the work which we have begun via the New Canadian and this article in particular? We trust you will be interested to see mentioned above $1.00 on the subscription price - that is 25 cents a single copy or $2.00 a year. We would allow such accounts into communication with them. The price of our magazine is securing annual subscriptions, you would confer a favor by putting you know of individuals of character who would represent us in We are anxious to secure agents in your vicinity. Should mingled among the best known writers of America. of articles coming from the pen of a man who for fifty years has Boston, which will appear in the magazine, a very valuable article editor. He is now preparing "Reminiscences of Liberty Men of active literary writers in Boston, Edward Everett Hale, is our You, of course, understand that the man at the head of the should be made aware of this fact that class articles in your interest, that for your sake and for ours a Great many people in your section would be glad to communicate the fact to them. It seems to me and know of this article. If you would send us a list of them, we and them to you. Possibly you might wish some of your friends should you desire one or more copies we should be glad to United States.

New England
Hale

Sir William Dawson,

Dear Sir,

the article in commenting a great deal of interest through articles and doubtless in a pleasing way to yourself. We are in French Canada. You are prominently mentioned in "Some Canadian Writers of To-day", also an article upon the New England Magazine has a highly illustrated article You may or may not know that the September

80 Federal Street,

Boston, Mass., September 13, 1890.

Single numbers, 25 cts.

$3.00 per year.

An illustrated monthly Magazine, a current record of New England life and thought, maintaining itself the world over.

EDWIN D. MEAD,

EDWARD EVERETT HALE, D. D., EDITORS.

JOHN WYRON POTTER,

MANAGER.

THE NEW ENGLAND MAGAZINE

THE NEW ENGLAND MAGAZINE, published monthly, is published by the New England Magazine Co., 80 Federal Street, Boston, Mass. The price of the magazine is $3.00 per year in advance. Single numbers are 25 cents. The magazine is published by the New England Magazine Co., 80 Federal Street, Boston, Mass. The price of the magazine is $3.00 per year in advance. Single numbers are 25 cents. The magazine is published by the New England Magazine Co., 80 Federal Street, Boston, Mass. The price of the magazine is $3.00 per year in advance. Single numbers are 25 cents.

"I like its plan and the execution of it. It deserves abundant success. I know of no periodical so full of interest to the people of New England."
John Greenleaf Whittier.

"It should not be supposed that the New England Magazine is narrow or sectional in its scope. The New England of today is bounded only by the farthest limits of the Union. Everywhere through these borders New England blood is diffused, and New England's vigorous thought is taking the leadership which is its birthright. It is to this broader New England that the Magazine speaks."
New England Observer.

THE NEW ENGLAND MAGAZINE.

EDWARD EVERETT HALE, D. D.,
EDWIN D. MEAD, } EDITORS.

JOHN MYRON POTTER,
MANAGER.

An illustrated monthly Magazine, a current record of New England life and thought manifesting itself the world over.

SINGLE NUMBERS, 25 CTS.

$3.00 PER YEAR.

86 Federal Street,

Boston, Mass., September 18, 1890.

Sir William Dawson,

Dear Sir,-

You may or may not know that the September number of the New England Magazine has a richly illustrated article entitled "Some Canadian Writers of To-day", also an article upon "Literature in French Canada". You are prominently mentioned in these articles and doubtless in a pleasing way to yourself. We write this to be sure that you are aware of the fact and to assure you that the article is commanding a great deal of interest throughout the United States.

Should you desire one or more copies we should be glad to send them to you. Possibly you might wish some of your friends to know of this article. If you would send us a list of them, we would be glad to communicate the fact to them. It seems to me that for your sake and for ours a great many people in your section should be made aware of this first class article in your interest.

You, of course, understand that the man at the head of the active literary writers in Boston, Edward Everett Hale, is our editor. He is now preparing "Reminiscences of Literary Men of Boston" which will appear in the magazine, a very valuable series of articles coming from the pen of a man who for fifty years has mingled among the best known writers of America.

We are anxious to secure agents in your vicinity. Should you know of individuals of character who could represent us in securing annual subscriptions, you would confer a favor by putting us into communication with them. The price of our magazine is 25 cents a single copy or $3.00 a year. We would allow such agent as mentioned above $1.00 on the subscription price, - that is 33 1/3%. Will you let us hear your opinion of the magazine, of this article in particular? We trust you will be interested to supplement the work which we have begun viz to make Canadian and United States writers better acquainted with one another.

Yours respectfully,

Dictated.

John Myron Potter