

En Druud

~~1840~~

[The remainder of the page contains several lines of extremely faint, illegible handwriting, likely bleed-through from the reverse side of the paper.]

but not I hope in many cases.
Mr. H. but yesterday promised to send me a new set of letters that had been received and would now be too late.

Sir I am glad to hear at 11. tomorrow morning at the C.P. Windsor Station. I shall hope to hear of the hour at which Lord Stanley is to arrive in the evening, but am afraid our arrangement will be very uncertain time at the station. I expect a telegram from him. I have Mr.
McL. yesterday (18 Nov 1870) (18 Nov 1870) (18 Nov 1870)

Dear Mr. William

As you are good enough to say in your note of today that Cards for the Gentlemen whose names are given in it should be you on Monday morning sent be forwarded to them. That the whenever you receive your cards to you. As the regard to the list of Gentlemen connected with myself kind of furnished in April or May last, if you have any one missions of some kind elsewhere, the Gentlemen have sent to be married