

Ottawa,
26th. 1894

Dear Sir William,

I do not want to take your time, always so valuable; I should be quite content with a few general observations which would be suitable for the reader, resident or otherwise. But of course if you could give me fuller observations
I should be grateful, I should be all those I should read them.

If I could have the article, or ~~sketch~~ you write, by the month of December when I propose to go to Boston to consult publishers I should feel under an obligation. The fact that your article was included would help me. The small edition I published in the inconvenient form of the P. M. was to tell what by critical journals like the New York

Nation, London Athenaeum, Edinburgh Magazine, English Historical Review &
Francis Parkman, that I am desirous of getting the book before the public in a popular shape.

But I shall leave the whole matter in your scholarly hands. You will see in Kraedker's Guide, which contains a most excellent article by your son, a pleasing reference to my Life of Berlin.

I had previous to your telegram sent a proof to you son at Kamloops, & the book I was keeping the type standing for him.

Sincerely yours,

W. Hornum
