Dear Dr Boursicot,

Lambe writes to me that his paper on sponges is likely to be left over for want of space. This will be a great disappointment to him as a young man making a reputation.
If space were wanted you may care over my paper in favour

Monday

Dear Sir W.

Mr Lambie may be sure that his paper will be published if it is at all possible.

but the volume must be edited in accordance with our funds & ability, and because each individual thinks his paper the best

We have already paid $300 for Lambie's illustrations; for other authors, who have not yet appeared, might well complain if they are to be ignored for him. His illustrations this year are

Brown of his, If the trouble is in the illustrations, perhaps he will be content to curtail these in favor of earlier publications. Any way,

know you will do
what is right,

Truly yours

to cost $150. Last year all our illustrations cost $850 — ^{by and over} ^{means} ^{we are} set was all scientific.

I shall do the best I can. You may be sure.

If his illustrations could be brought into reasonable scope. I might do something. But he showed no doubt that pressure will help

Yours sincerely
