

University College,
Dundee.

21st February 1895.

Dear Sir,

I owe you many apologies for not sooner acknowledging the various papers you have been good enough to send me. I read with great interest your "Thirty Years of hi' Gile", and more recently your address on a College for Women.

It is interesting to find so marked a similarity between the problems and difficulties you have had to face and those which attend the growth of recent educational foundations on this side of the water. Your own feeling must be one of satisfaction at the work you have been permitted to accomplish for your University during your long tenure of office. Perhaps you will permit me to express the hope that you may still have before you a long term of the enjoyment of that leisure and repose to which your services so justly entitle you.

Again thanking you for your courtesy, I am,

Dear Sir,
Yours faithfully,
W. Peterson.

Sir Wm Dawson.
