Sir J. William Dawson,

Mc Gill College, Montreal, Canada.

Dear Sir:

During a recent visit of our representative to Montreal, the criticism was made that upon the American edition of your volume "The Meeting Place of Geology and History" you received no royalty. This statement was made to us as having come directly from you, and we hasten to correct any false impression that may have been given you.

We publish this book by direct arrangement with the Religious Tract Society of London, whose American agents we are, and to whom we remit each six months a royalty upon all books sold in any market.

You must be aware, that unless published simultaneously in Great Britain and the United States, your book could not be copyrighted in this country; and in your case, as with all other European authors, we voluntarily make payments of royalty.

If you had in contemplation any other volumes, we would be glad to so arrange with the Religious Tract Society or with yourself direct, that we should make the volume in the United States, and publish simultaneously with the London edition, thus securing for you full author's rights in the United States.

Yours very truly,

FLEMING H. REVELL CO.
