Series of Picture Lectures.

672 SPADINA AVENUE, TORONTO.

Toronto,

April 21st.

Dear Sir:

I was commissioned by the editor of the Canadian Magazine some time ago to ~~to~~ write a short biographical sketch of yourself (covering a wider range than the matter contained in a recent article in the Magazine on McGill College), and am already at work on the subject.

I intend spending the last of this week in Montreal in connection with some lectures I am to deliver, and venture to ask if you could possibly afford me a few minutes' interview at any time on Saturday? Perhaps you will kindly drop me a note, in the enclosed envelope, to the St Lawrence Hall where I will get it on my arrival in Montreal.

In any case I will submit to you whatever I may write, but the Editor is anxious that I should see you if possible in connection with the matter. He has an excellent photo of you recently taken, but would like one taken in middle age or as a young man if you could supply them. Sir Oliver Mowat found for me the other ~~by~~ some very interesting photos of himself taken when he was practicing in Kingston long before he entered public life.

I am, Sir, yours truly

Frank Yeigh
