Dear Mr William

If anything w<sup>d</sup> tempt me to cross the Atlantic again, it
w<sup>d</sup> be your kind invitation to see you when the B. Assn goes to Toronto, but I am afraid to make up my mind
so long before the time, as I am not fond of the sea, and a voyage which I took round the

would, almost cured
me of any desire to again.

If I do see any way
to it, I will write or let you know.

I should so much like to see a copy connected with your time at Midway, and shall look forward impatiently to seeing any new books you may publish.
Your kind wishes have given me fresh courage
for my work.

Yours sincerely
Miss T. Hazard
