

November 9th, 1896.

Vassar College.
Houghkeepsie, N. Y.
President's Office.

Sir J. William Dawson, LL.D.,

Toronto, Canada,

Dear Sir;

Professor Dwight, of our College, has suggested to me that you be invited to deliver a lecture at Vassar at some time during this winter or early in the spring upon a subject in your special department of study. I cordially unite with him in the desire to have you come, and write to ask if it will be possible for you to do so. I am sorry that the honorarium which we offer is not worthier, but we find ourselves able to obtain the Professors from our colleges as a rule for a fee of fifty dollars. I should be glad to increase that to seventy-five on account of the larger distance which you come. You would of course be entertained by the College during your stay.

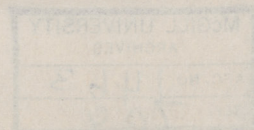

We should feel honored by a visit from one who has gained such a distinguished place in the world of scholarship, and I may hope that you would find it a matter of interest to visit this College for young women and address them upon your own subject.

Hoping to hear from you favorably, and at your early convenience, I am,

Respectfully yours,

James M. Taylor

(Dictated)

Queen's College
King's College
London

November 17, 1881

Mr. A. W. ...

London, Ontario

Dear Sir

Dear Sir

Wm. Mack

Faint, mostly illegible text of the letter body, appearing as bleed-through from the reverse side of the paper.

McGILL UNIVERSITY
ARCHIVES
ACC. NO. 1463
REF. 709