Dear Sir J. Wm^d Dawson,

I sincerely thank you for your careful attention to my paper and your sympathy in my undertaking.

One thing would be worth mentioning - It was written at spaces of time apart, sometimes weeks

I thank for your book which I have read, and as you have read the first part of the MS you will greatly favour me by reading the last part.
My health is too ^{much} ~~my~~ broken down or I would undertake to read portions in the towns: there might be a little known of it it is not known now, only to very few. I am Dear Sir Wm^d
Your Obedient Servant
James White.
