

A. Johnston, Prince of Wales
Terrace
Nov 29/98

My dear Mr William

I am sure you will be glad to learn (if you have not heard it already) that the Government have dealt liberally with Hamilton in giving him a
retiring pension of full pay practically -
i.e. to prevent a precedent, they have put it in the form
of full pay (£4333
month) for one year
leaving the question of superannuation

to be considered afterwards I suppose this practically means what Messrs
said.

His health is however very bad. I am sorry to say you are very true
Alexander Johnson.
