April 29th 1899,

My dear Sir William Dawson,-

It was most kind of you to write me as you were good enough to do, on the 17th and 21st March and 7th April, and to send me with the last of these letters printed and Manuscript Memoranda in connection with the Ratcliffe College, Cambridge, Mass., giving, as they do, valuable information in connection with the Higher Education of Women.

I regret very much that, owing to illness and pressure of work, it has been impossible for me earlier to acknowledge your kind communications, which please feel assured I greatly appreciate, and I hope that, with the opening of McGill University, next session, the opening of the Royal Victoria College of Montreal will give greater facilities than have heretofore existed for bestowing a high class and thoroughly practical education to women. Your own efforts and work in this direction have indeed been of the most valuable character, and we are all deeply indebted both to yourself and to Lady Dawson for what you have done in that direction, and for education generally in the Dominion.

Believe me to be,

My dear Sir William,

Always most sincerely
