

Dear Sir

We have, I am sorry to say, only two students for the intermediate, Hamilton Cassels, and Henry Wecksteadt, both very good scholars. Perhaps you will take such part in the paper as may be assigned.

I have just returned from the town where I went to see Duncan McPherson, who is the great authority in regard of Lacorne House. The house he now occupies - the font going West from our Cottage, in the same side of the road, is he thinks to be let. It is a capital house with all such conveniences as Cecilia never has. Rent $100 Via Chanceller Street had the first offer, but has written that he is not likely to come. So it is in the market. Besides, our Lady the maner has a house which overlocks ours, and is beautifully situated. I believe it is also to let - same rent, but not so well furnished.

I shall be glad to correspond with some of the people below if you let me know what you would like

Your truly
