Sir William Dawson
Dear Sir

I take the liberty of writing to you in my humble hoping your great goodness of health I feel sure you will give me your sympathy.
I have been called back to the city by the illness of my daughter. She had not been able to join me and the Doctor ordered me back to nurse her.

This morning I find myself without means of procuring what is necessary for my your child. Oh! Sir may I ask you for the loan of 43 to help me. I should be able to return the same in a week.

I have been sorely tried but I must not murmur the Lord knows what is best for His people.

With sincere apologies for troubling you

Believe me
Yours sincerely
Caroline Prentice
