note I wrote to you last Friday, so that you know we are all now domiciled with the Campbells. The Mr & Larne are at the "Marguerite" where they are to be joined by the Garners. Love & affection today

Yesterday in returning from Church I called at the Hotel I got a bundle of letters. One from you, enclosing one from Mrs Stewart, written partly on behalf of old Mrs Patterson & enclosing her likeness for Anna & me. Tell Anna I wish her to write a kind note of thanks.
& if I can find time I will also, but I find myself more at a loss for a little quiet here than at the Hotel. as ✓ — address to take R. & E. out of the way half of each day.

— Hitherto we have got on most comfortably. Mrs. Campbell is kind & agreeable. She prefers Mr. Lundy's Company & as I am under Ackland's guest I get out of the way when I think it will be more agreeable to her. Nothing I can say contrary Rankin's undoubted self-assurance.

 He is out with it accompanied by C. Lane. this forenoon. Mr. L. is very fond of August. I has enlisted me as a player. We have here every comfort for Cacoune, I may say luxury. Yesterday it was cold. Today it is warmer. I defer saying anything about our return until I get letters of this week. I think it wd give the C's trouble if W. came from Murrey Bay for the week at the Hotel. I paid $42. 75. He is to return half the fare for conveyance between the railway & Hotel. & when we return we will start from Riviere de Loup. I have to write to W. & Mrs Reddy & have only a short half hour before dinner. My love to Anna.
 I am thankful to know you & she are well but you must hasten ^{your} further arrangements before work begins. Give faithful & loving wife
