Dearest William

In my all dilatatory way I have left my writing till the mg. & as we are all late have only a minute to say that we are getting on comfortably here. There has been a severe Easterly storm since I last wrote It began about 4<sup>o</sup> Clock Tuesday mg. & began to subside but remains dark in the evening - today it is cool almost cold but calm & shiny. Lettuce has gone over to await the arrival of the heat.

We are enjoying your enquiries & thanks - the lettuce has grown remarkably well - three stalks of it had immense stalks of flowers which I immediately cut down & Lumpis are up & lettuce - but there is about two yards of ground appears to have produced nothing but weeds. I am going to Mr. Miller's for the prob line, when I finish this I am going to make inquiries about it & have something done if it is unoccupied.

Bauhaed has had a sunstroke & looks very poorly still. He is trying to cut wood today but I don't think he will stay long.

Thank you very much for your letter of Sunday I really feel heart sore when I think of your bearing the heat & burden of all the worries of plumbers & I do hope all the tradesmen will be faithful & at least make it easy, & after it is finished finished satisfactory.

Did you read Mrs. Scott's letter? She looks forward with whole hearted pleasure to Eric's visit Please say to Surgey I am so pleased with his letter I shall answer it soon.

The purple ink is the result of my transferring myself, pen & paper to the P.O. to insure missing the mail - it now stands nearly as the door he must close this atrociously marked note.

With love to G. M.
I hope that your love will throw a mantle of charity over this note. Margaret
