Dearst William

As Anna intends to go to Bic it will be quite a time before I see her. I have fully about you & your plans in mind I shall be greatly disappointed if you do not get down about the same time, or at the latest by the end of this week. If I see only ^{how things} you ^{by} the ^{way} ^I ^{see} of wearing yourself out with what you yourself will be do have been trifles when an illness as the incapacities of premature old age enable you to view the things that now bulk large from a safer point of view — not to speak of the diminished pushy power with which you will conduct the affairs of the As: Some things undoubtedly unfinished wd better show how much has been done. "A word to the wise is enough" Show that you have wisdom. — I have left writing the Press as usual. The Carpenter has just appeared with the box for the link. Mrs H. is still here. She says she is going to the hotel tomorrow. ^{Sybil will come over} to us ^{from 10 to 12} on.
