My dearest William

Best thanks for letter of apology dated 16th April. All letters therein named were duly received altho' we have none by mail of this week. One of our first acts was to send our names & address to the Com: Com: office. There must have been great pressure there up to the time of the Exhibition do we think letters may be delayed & that we shall still get none. We have been greatly occupied from day to day engagements multiple as ^{arrived} ~~is~~ known to friends & soon if we chose we mt float into the public notice of a London season - this however will be most incongruous to one besides money flies swifter than the wind perhaps & other accompaniments of society life. Notwithstanding R. & E. have persuaded me to accept an invitation to meet the Prince & Princess of Wales at the Countess of Reschey's on Saturday evg. We dined last night at the Pae's & lunch tomorrow at Mrs. Conyille. On Monday we leave our present lodgings & go for a week to the Bannys & after that probably for a few days to Mrs. P. P. Perpete who lived with us last Monday. It is likely we shall take lodgings again for about two weeks & then go to Manchester & the Crows where I shall have time to go for a short time to visit H. Cole's friends alone. It is hardly worth giving heed to this plan for we are ready for change of any desirable kind & you of course will continue to write to & Victoria Chamberlayne & we shall keep them apprised of our movements. The weather could not be finer. Sunshine from morn. till night

It is now just on the stroke of of our engagement with R. who is taking us to the Grosvenor House

I have written to P. please ask all others to excuse me

& pardon this scribble, wh I must mail but I shd be late but will write more if I return in time
