

This I think is my last chance to write to you & shall write all to Amos.
I still expect you to bring out the empty bunk. I have shitted.
Egbert, the 1 sucks water I know I have a plot
I wish to be followed I think do not follow with anything more than laboring I wish to see here I fear that they would prevent me writing by this week mail I took an opportunity early in the week I wrote to Will, as that letter may probably be by the Canadian mail of today it must come all per news of general doings & plans work. I am by letter. ~~but~~ before receiving this you will be very near the end of Montreal winter & I do earnestly hope you will try wholly to throw off thoughts of books or addresses during the long days & go, as I have proposed, into the wilds. I will soon after your arrival. & then take up freshy what you have thought, write & polish it up in a businessy way.

 I do think this wd give you a better chance of judging wisely as to the merits of what you have prepared than if you go on dabbling at it continuously. Consider this. Dr. Williamson confidentially communicated to me, & his fear that you wd introduce you Theology into your address. He believes it usurps your Chronology & other points of the address; as you stand absolutely alone in your defense of Revelation he considers any attempt to the Authority of the age he would be a fatal mistake!!"

It is to me awfully sad to find two such fine natural Characters as Dr. & Mrs. W. wholly given over to blindness of heart.

As you say you, "do not fear the Pres: wife", I confidently answer, I do not fear the wisdom of the President - only I would like a rehearsal.

We had a pleasant half day with Mrs Galdsmith & Mary Maclean yesterday, at an outlying suburb of Manchester, where they live. Tomorrow (18th) I go to Ellis at Trinity Eve at the same hour, & just from the opposite side of the pluperine, starts for Liverpool. The weather for some time has been cold & showery
