My dear Father,

I received the letter from Mr Todd which you sent on & have answered it. I trust you will not wonder the that Mr. Well plants a burden on your paper might as well be furnished after the meeting as not. I am sorry to know that Mary continues to give trouble & though you could help being annoyed it is no good letting wear men of his kind think they are amusing. William is still

Here I believe, though I have not seen him today & he spoke of getting things work this year. He is looking well after his western trip, & it has been quite a pleasure to see him here.

I have not got definite sailing orders yet, but am planning to get down to Waukegan about end of this week & will try to make a party of it as Bernard it seems has some idea of going west about cool lands. Heard from him today. Last night a great banquet of Lord Sanderson of which you are in doubt advised by the papers
