My dear Father,

I see that 'Medicus' is out again in the last week. It appears to me that the clique are getting desperate because no voice is taken of their efforts & it is becoming difficult to keep the ball rolling with all the play on one side. If this is so it would probably be desirable to leave the matter as it is. The only chance of further agitation seems to lie in that of such further correspondence as 'Medicus' & the 'most popular professors' may care to keep up between themselves

Yours

Ernest
