My dear Father,

I have just arrived here after a comfortable & rapid journey, losing nothing by having missed that first train last night.

The weather is rather cool & incant & there fore been several days of rain in N.S., quite spoiling, as I hear, the 'fair' at Halifax.

Appearances tonight are, however,
for better weather.

I write merely to indicate my arrival & wish nothing in Particular to add, Ami is here, but I have not yet seen him.

Yours

George
