My Dearest Margaret

I am very sorry it is not in my power to be with you tomorrow night, as you know that at present it would be highly improper for me to go to any party. Besides, I have been complaining a good deal of late, I had another attack of hysteria on Tuesday, and I have not got the better of it yet. I would rather come on a

Saturday, when I would be sure of getting you all to myself. Come out very soon, and believe me, Dearest Margaret

Your sincere friend
Mary B. Putjon
