My dear Mr. Dutton

I have at length received the Photographs and hasten to send you yours. I thank you for your very kind letter and shall be very pleased to write to you and receive your answers. You must tell me how to address you <sup>correctly</sup> properly. I was much pleased and obliged by your promise of sending me occasionally some of D. Davison's Lit.

trips. They will be a treat.
I like your husband's look and your appearance and manner is quite a sufficient proof of what he is. You don't look like an unhappy wife. I hope you are enjoying yourself at Bunt island as well as you can so far from home although you have one of your dearest with you. And how did you find your sisters and their families? Your anxieties with regard to Canada are happily soon brought to an end. Will you remember me to Mr. and Mrs. Bell, Mr.

Clephorn, and Mrs. — alas, I can only remember Inanion.
I suppose they have all children married.

How very sad is this war!
It will at least I suppose be soon over thanks to the frightful weapons of war which will kill thousands. Do you see the Times? There was a remark in it connecting the Pope's declaration of infellibility with this war in reference to the Chapter in Thessalonians with regard to the man of sin. This had before occurred to me, at no doubt, it had to many.

Thank you for the Lemonade bottles name.

With kind remembrances to D. Dawson and your dear son, whom I shall be pleased to see if he should feel inclined to favour me, believe me,

Dear Mr. Dawson
Your affectionate
A. M. Watku

Excuse a bad pen.
