My dear Mother,

I believe I have not written to you since you left home, but hearing daily of so many other correspondents it has seemed almost superfluous. All continues quiet along the Ottawa

& there is no need that you should leave Toronto a moment sooner than you actually

Wish .

We, Eva & I, were at the Redpaths on Tuesday & spent a very pleasant evening. I hope not to have to go out any more this week, but to devote myself to Lectures &c.

Your very son

Gurge
