 she has been ill
 in bed since
 Friday

with inflammation in the gums. The pain is very severe & nothing we have tried yet seems to relieve it. She has had several jumps at the d'oyles, & thinks them beautiful, & desires warmest thanks.
They will be kept for high days & holidays, & we be to the unlucky ferran who spills a glass I will see them. The little figures are so quaint & pretty, Aunt M. thinks it so very kind of you & Grace. Do remember her but I won't say more, as she will write to you before very long. This must be a letter of thanks, we were all delighted with your pretty cards, & it was so kind of George to send the sketch for my album.

I like it ever so much, will you please give him my warm thanks, he should have introduced a plate in remembrance of the Byes of Ught. See Perkins
I will write to him sometimes, he really

I found a most amiable spirit. Reading your note for Misses, I did not deserve such kindly treatment. And now I must thank you dear Mrs. Dawson for your
 time ago, & all its good wishes for my future happiness. Aunt Maffie is to let me go in June, or perhaps May, but she wishes the cold spring to be over for the sake of guests.
 She would have preferred a month or two longer. I
 nearer. I should have liked another evening for Missmaid, but I must
