

Carrie Williamson

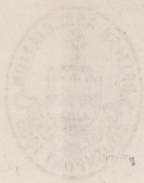

Reception Room,

September 24 1885.

My dear Mrs Dawson--

I am afraid you must have thought me somewhat unkind in not seeing you privately before now, but I was so sure you must be, either yourself calling upon someone or resting, that I thought it kinder not to trouble you.

Now however, I must take some means of saying, how very pleased we are with the assurance from Dr Hudson that we may welcome you all to Fallowfield on;
(I believe) Monday Oct 8th for a stay as long as can be made convenient to you.

Our home is a most simple one, but we will try to show in every way we can how very pleased we are at the prospect of your visit, I say we because ^{our} young people will be a welcome, & in their case it is a welcome to friends - & in my own I feel it to be so, though as yet I only know from report.

We shall meet somewhere probably during to day to tomorrow, if not I shall give myself the pleasure of calling upon you.

With kind regards to Miss Dawson.

I am dear Mrs Dawson
very sincerely yours
Annie Williamson
