

J. Redpath

McGILL UNIVERSITY ARCHIVES
ACC. NO. 927/24
REF. 1

The Manor House.
Chestnut.

Tuesday.

My very dear Friend.
A thousand welcomes to this pleasant little place, — Your note received this morning was charming — only to think of you, your dear husband, & sweet Eva being so near to us. We have so long looked forward to the joy of seeing you, and now we are indeed to have the pleasure. What a welcome we shall give you to our English home.

You ask me to be caudid.
I think my dear husband has already written to Dr.
Dawson of that point, I hope he received the note sent to Novice. We may not look for you before the 20th or 21st. In your note you speak of being at liberty at liberty, about the 15th Oct. I doubt not, you can put off a few days for every one will be wishing for you, as their guests, but not more so than ourselves.

What a busy time you must have had before leaving Montreal - It was good to see you dear Mr. married, you appear charmed with his choice, I am sure we wish them all joy & true happiness. What of all the rest, I long to ask you so many questions; but I must wait patiently -

I will not inflict a longer note, you will be so fully occupied.

Much love to each, not forgetting my dear little Maria, accept love in large measure from your affectionate friend

G. Madgath.