

ones who will require them
 moment - but don't burden
 her mind as a necessity. Solitude is very much trans to have express, she seems to fancy they are more ladylike

Affecy
 Anna

April 29th
 1886

Dearest - Mother ' We begin to think the days long till we have further news of you than the brief telegraphic announcement of your arrival & no doubt - when once we do hear you will be able to keep us supplied with a stream of great & fine doings in the wide world across the water. Here there is little of special note to chronicle - except the continued exodus of Canadians to the other side

Vapa has settled down here quite readily, & has seemed very cheerful, & scarcely grumbling at any of the strokes of destiny fortune, even at that much

Murray having further memorialized the Governor as to his wrongs - I think your view was correct - that the change wd be good for him I even hear him renouncing pleas to business after he goes to his room one night I thought - I heard him sighing or groaning, but - I went & listened for a few minutes & then catching a sort of subdued attempt - at humming a tune I departed, he has uniformly gone early to bed & takes little rests when tired, & as tomorrow is the convocation day, I hope the work he has beyond that will be more congenial & less set with thorns in the shape of worries.

Carry having made her own house too hot for her by a very energetic housecleaning measures, came over this morning & stayed all day much to her own comfort - I am sure immensely to Susan's relief - I wish I could as readily as has Ruth, I leave her made an attempt in the same direction, so I hope we have got through her shoes in that regard - I don't think I shall stay in town the day, if 8-9 papers will stay they will have to be carried far in some way, or have quiete as I might - have Rate behind - I don't think I sh^d get any provision or advantage at - puts it off delay so long - As he has told will largely cut off our berry supply of year & make eggs, & etc very troublesome to procure to write Eva & Frankie.

Don't you leave or heard anything of Miss Logan - she came into my mind lately as a collector of the past - I ever see in her shopings of books, the any words as "innocence" - says & colors - & as himself if plain & promising for any of the & that girls, & as she had of them better & better as the

