

Hotel Rudolft.
New York.
Dec. 28. 98

My dear Mother,

I got here safely this morning & have been on the run all day about these plague meetings. This evening I received Anna's telegram & was glad to hear that both you & father are progressing favorable. I hope that there have been no further calamities in the two households.

Many friends are asking for father.

The meeting is a large &
good one of its kind.

It has been very cold & bleak here today, with a high wind, but the snow has all gone.

Yours

George
